Onsen Bubble Block use for Hot Spring bathing

Such 'bubbly water' refers to the soda water, or carbonic water perhaps, can expand the blood vessels and lowers the blood pressure. It is ultimately ideal for old folks especially with rheumatism problem, joints and connective tissue, and paralysis usually are relieved when they soak in the Carbon Dioxide Onsen. Such therapy can stabilize and retain body temperature to promote ultimate relaxation by dilating blood capillaries in return for lower blood pressure. Other benefits include to recover from contusions, cuts, hardening of arteries and soften clots in the blood stream.

Carbon Dioxide Onsen is very ideal to help easing the symptoms of menopausal and miracles may seem achievable in most of the Japanese women. It is believed that even infertile people, whether male or female are converted and can reproduce. There have been some testimonies on Japanese people who experienced this for themselves but it is yet to be proven.

Such "carbonate force" is to promote blood circulation to enhance the bathing effect and de-stress, especially can recover from fatigue, stiff neck, back pain, and poor circulation.
